THE GRAEFENBERG PILLS.

THERE ARE THREE REASONS why that class of Medicines [illegible] PATENT should be made the means [illegible] blessings to the human fam[illegible] that a high order of tale[illegible] tion, and great medical [illegible] brought to bear upon the [illegible] a PILL. Why may not th[illegible] vision of medical science be [illegible] that attends the sacrifice of [illegible] other things? There is no [illegible] simplest dictate of the sim[illegible] that a Pill thus produced [illegible] can be made by man. [illegible] one subject will [illegible] This labor has been [illegible] upon and they are presented t[illegible] alleled in the whole histor[illegible]

It will be seen, in the n[illegible] ventions, that they were [illegible] the arrival of what may [illegible] time. The mariner's compa[illegible] invented until in the "fullness o[illegible] The loadstone always lay at ma[illegible] knew what a wonderful and un[illegible] tured in its silent bosom, and [illegible] tin drew near when distant co[illegible] were to be unveiled. Behold it now [illegible] binocule of the adventurous sailor, [illegible] launch far away upon unknown Oceans [illegible] idly sailing within sight of familiar land [illegible]

So with the discovery of the New World [illegible] shores was to arise this Great Nation to [illegible] glory, a mission far beyond the conception [illegible] est hope. The Old World had reached its h[illegible] time: the "fullness of time" drew near for its [illegible] of the New, and behold the immortal Colu[illegible] the forecastle of his drenched and leaky ves[illegible] So will the invention of printing of steam, of the [illegible] netic telegraph. Each of these had its own "fullness of time" marked distinct and Providential[illegible]

☞ THE MEDICAL SCIENCE THE SAME GREAT PHILOSOPHICAL PRINCIPLE IS EQUALLY MARKED. Most [illegible] facts are the illustrations and proofs of this which [illegible] to be found in the history of the world. We can trace them from the Mount of Olive nations down to the present hour. I let them speak for the lesson and giving us the hope that so nothing yet better to heal human mal[illegible] ad ea is at hand.

That this principle is as true of Medical as of Physical science is clearly shown in the

which is furnished gratuitously to all who wish it. The

Graefenberg Pills,

are deemed by all who have tested them to be an inconceivable advance upon all other medical combinations and discoveries hitherto known, nor they are announced as

THE GREAT REMEDIAL TRIUMPH

The inventor of these Pills rests his theory upon no school nor long and ordinary medical touchers. Planting himself upon the revelation of the

ALMIGHTY CREATOR,

THAT

he requires that his disciples and his patients make pure the life current that leaps through their veins and writes here before they can hope for a PERMANENT cure. Relief he can give them and so can others, but bright and joyous health must come from a pure blood.

But a most sad thought here comes in! So countless are the impositions which are practiced upon the public by pretenders, and so numerous and boastful are the medicines advertised, that the reader may be slow to believe in this Great Remedy. A word, therefore, on this point.

In the first place, READ THE GRAEFENBERG GAZETTE. No matter how sceptical you may now be, that paper will convince you. Thousands have been convinced in every State and Territory in the Union and among them that signified statesmen, jurists, clergymen, physicians and [illegible]. The bare enumeration of their names would fill this page. Let the reader send to the most convenient agency for a copy of the Gazette, which can be had.

GRATIS!!

In the second place, TRY THE PILLS. It will cost but the nicest trifle, and will introduce you to a medicine which you will deem a blessing to the end of your days.

A thousand things press upon the minds of the advertisers which they would rejoice to say to the reader; but the limits of this advertisement forbid. But let any one afflicted with the following diseases make a trial of the Graefenberg Pills and they will be PERMANENTLY CURED

Asthma	Flatulency
Bilious Complaints,	Fever Blood or Whites,

In all bilious or chronic disorders, these Pills achieve the most wonderful triumphs. HERE THEY PRAY COMPETITION. And as the susceptibility of the American constitution is to these diseases, they are aptly styled by some

The Pill of the New World.

Their wonderful efficacy in these complaints arises from their power to GIVE THE POOR BLOOD AND STRENGTHEN THE STOMACH AND BOWELS MAKE THE LIFE FLOW HEALTHILY AND CLEAR AND TO GIVE TONE AND STRENGTH TO THE SYSTEM.

It is impossible, within the limits of an ordinary advertisement to give the reader the reasons for the most extraordinary success and proof of these Pills. But REASONS DO EXIST which have abundantly satisfied the minds of thousands in this country and among them the accomplished Physicians, Jurists, Clergymen, and private citizens, male and female.

☞ NUMEROUS CERTIFICATES of the wonderful efficacy of these Pills might be presented but a certificate in these days is scarcely worth the paper which it is printed. A few extracts from the correspondence of the Company will, however be given.

THURSDAY, JUNE 10, 1847.

☞ Our neighbor, the Bangor Democrat, is very cool and easy in its indifference as to the war with Mexico and its results. To our earnest inquiries as to the intentions of the administration in prosecuting the war and the mode proposed for bringing the war to a close, it coolly replies, that after Mexico is conquered "there will be peace—the Mexicans will not hereafter plunder, imprison and murder our citizens—we shall be indemnified for Mexican aggressions—our national character will be [illegible] Mexico will have to contribute towards the expenses of the war—we shall make a [illegible] acquisition of free territory—and Wing [illegible] will deeply regret their folly in opposing [illegible] forced upon us by the acts of Mexico."

Religion.

For the support of virtue, education has a most select [illegible] to depend on—namely, that of teaching [illegible] the precepts of the Christian religion [illegible] and indeed maintained that [illegible] let to form his own notions of the [illegible] contemplation of his [illegible] and to regulate his faith and worship [illegible] discoveries and his [illegible] by experience [illegible] only seldom take firm possession of the [illegible] they are impressed in early [illegible] habits of every youth [illegible] sidered [illegible] man and [illegible] Governor [illegible] relation between [illegible] tion and principle [illegible] It is the only [illegible] cation—the only law that is sanctioned by adequate authority. In support of these sentiments is the concurrent testimony of all ages and nations. The ancients as well as the moderns have always united a religious establishment with their literary institutions, and whether acquainted or not with the doctrines of heathen superstition, or enlightened by the pure theology of the gospel, they have equally prescribed the [illegible] of youth in the faith and worship, as well as in the arts and sciences of their country.

[illegible] excellence of Christianity, [illegible] by the commands of its Author, coupled [illegible] obligation to teach it to those entrusted to our care, and one certain [illegible] which [illegible] brings the obligation home to the parent, is, that instruction on this subject [illegible] others, must be early begun and constantly continued. It is generally confessed, that if sentiments of religion are impressed upon the mind when young they will influence and ennoble man with sufficient force [illegible]

Here, then, is the most momentous duty of education, [illegible] is, of all that is truly and [illegible] useful, the foundation and completion—the beginning and the end. Religion is equally the basis of private virtue and public [illegible] of the happiness of the individual, and the prosperity of the nation.

[Dickens.

Jerry Gray and his sister Susan were the children of a drunken father, and of a poor woman who, saved them from starvation by picking up rags in the street, and washing them for the paper makers. In youth, she had been a rustic belle, not unpleasant for her neat and tasteful attire. But she was a weak, yielding character, and sickness, poverty and toil gradually broke down the little energy with which nature had endowed her.

"What's the use of patching up my old rags?" she used to say to herself, there's nobody now to mind how I look. But she had a kindly, affectionate heart, and love for her children preserved her from intemperance, and sustained her in toiling for their daily bread.

The delight she took in dressing her daughter's glossy brown ringlets was the only remaining indication of early coquettish taste. Though often dirty and ragged herself, Susan was clean and tidy. She was, in fact, an extremely lovely child, and as she toddled through the streets, lodging by her mother's skirts Napoleon could not have been more proud of popular homage to his little King of Rome, than was the poor ragged woman of the smiles and kisses bestowed on her pretty one. Her large, chestnut-colored eyes had been saddened in their expression by the sorrows and privations of her mother, when the same life blood stained her boot, but they were very beautiful, and their long, dark fringes rested on cheeks as richly colored as a peach fully ripened in the sunshine. Like her mother, she had a very moderate share of intellect, and an extensive love of pretty things. It was a gleam in the soul of that intense love of the beautiful, which make poets and artists of higher minds under more favorable circumstances.

A washerwoman who lived in the next compartment in morning Glory seed in a broken teapot, and it bore its first blossom the day Susan was three years old. The sight of it filled her with passionate joy. She danced and clapped her hands, she returned to it again and again, and remained a long time stooping down and looking, down into the very heart of the flower. When it closed, she called out impatiently, "Wake up! wake up, pretty posy!" When it shrivelled more she cried aloud, and refused to be comforted. As success her flowers opened day by day, her friendship for the vine increased, and the conversations she held with it were sometimes quite poetic in her small way.

One day when her mother was to hang up rags from the dirty gutters of the street, with little Jenny trudging behind her, a gentleman passed with a large bouquet in his hand. Susan's eyes brightened as she exclaimed, "O mamma, look at the pretty posies!" The gentleman smiled upon her, and said, "Would you like one, my little girl?" She eagerly held out her hand, and he gave her a flower, saying, "There's a rose for you."

"Thank the good gentleman, said her mother." But she was too much occupied to attend to politeness. For her mind was full of the pet Morning-Glory, the first blossoms she had ever looked upon, and she ran to her mother, shouting joyfully, "See my Rosenglory!" The gentleman laughed, patted her silky curls, and said, "You are [illegible] yourself, and I wish you were [illegible] was older by two years, [illegible] church [illegible] the word "Rosenglory" repeated he, "what a funny name!" Mamma, the gentleman called our Susy a Rosenglory.

From that day it became a sweet word in the world. Little hope-bold it seemed there with mournful beauty, like the last golden rays which [illegible] lant the dingy walls and the broken crockery. When the weary mother had washed the basket of rags she would bring water for Susan's hands, and a wooden comb to smooth her hair, and gazing fondly in that infant face, [illegible] only vision of beauty and delicacy [illegible] dreary, she would say, "Now kiss me, my little Rosenglory." Even the miserable father, when his senses were [illegible] with drink, would take the pretty [illegible] one on his knee, twine her shiny ringlets round his coarse fingers, and sigh deeply as he said, "Ah, how many rich men would be proud to have my little Rosenglory for his own!" But it was her brother Jerry who doted on her most of all. He could not go to sleep [illegible] his bed straw, unless her lovely head was [illegible] for his bosom. They trudged along [illegible] hand in hand, and if chilly [illegible] apple or a slice of bread, the best [illegible] was always reserved for Jerry. A proud boy was he when he received an old tattered [illegible] riding horse from the son of a gentleman [illegible] whom his father was sawing wood. "Now Rosenglory shall ride," said he, and when he placed her on the horse, and watched [illegible] forth, his merry shouts of laughter [illegible] satisfaction. But these [illegible] seldom occurred but seldom. [illegible] every boy was hungry and cross, and the [illegible] were glad to steal away in silence to their [illegible] Which of her [illegible] in his darling with the rough [illegible] Rosenglory. He [illegible] warded off the cuffs [illegible] receive blows himself, [illegible] accidentally came [illegible] it was all [illegible] to see his fearful [illegible] and heaping heaped with her Mammy, the stern Rosenglory.

[illegible] Thus the young life was opening in [illegible] the row pales through [illegible] the vine [illegible] the brown [illegible] she caught now and then, [illegible] gleam of sunshine. It would be [illegible] could spare time from the din of [illegible] and the drowsiness of [illegible] routine to reflect whether such ought [illegible] be the portion of any of God's little ones, in [illegible] and beautiful earth which he created for the good of all.

Many a hungry day, and many a night of pinching cold this brother and sister went struggling through their blighted youth, but the younger was eight years old. At that period the father died of the delirium tremens, and the mother fell into a consumption, brought on by [illegible] hardship and unvarying gloom. The family was removed to the almshouse, and found it an improvement in their condition. The house to dwell in was good as that to which they had been accustomed—there was more air, and a wider scope for the eye to range in. Blessed with youthful impressibility to the bright and joyous, Jerry and Susan took more notice of the clear and silvery moon, and the host of bright stars, than they did of the dreariness, paleness and sad looks around them. The angels watch over childhood, and keep it from undergoing the evils that surround it, or at least from retaining the gloom which is its shadow. The poor weak mother was daily wasting away, but they only felt that her tones were more tender, her endearments more fond. One night, when they were going to bed, she held them by the hand longer than usual. The rough hireling nurse felt the eloquence of her sad countenance, and had not the heart to hurry them away.

None knew what deep thought, what agony of anxious love was in the soul of the dying one, but she gazed earnestly and tearfully into their young eyes, and said, with a troubled voice, "My children try to be good." She kissed them fervently, and spoke no more. The next day the nurse told them their mother was dead.—They saw her body laid in a white pine coffin, and carried away in a cart to the burying ground of the poor, where it was piled upon a hundred other nameless coffins, in a big hole dug in the sandy hill side. She was not missed from the gossiping crowd, but the orphans wept bitterly for she was all the world to them.

In a few days, strangers came to examine them, with a view to take them into service.—Jerry was bound to a sea captain, and Susan to a grocer's wife who wanted her to wait upon her children. She was indeed bound, for Mrs Andrews was entirely forgetful that anything like freedom or enjoyment was necessary or useful to servants. All day long she lugged the heavy baby, and often sat up late at night, to justify its frightfulness, as she best could while her master and mistress were at balls, or the theatre. While the babe was sleeping, she was required to scour the knives, or scour the pavement. No one talked to her except to say "Susy, do this, or Susy, why didn't you do as I bade you?"

Now and then she had a visit from Jerry, when his master was in port. He was always affectionate, and longed for the time when he should be a man, and able to have his sister to live with him. But after a few years he came no more, and as neither of them could write, they had no means of communication.

When Susan grew older and there were no more babies to tend, she was mostly confined to the cellar kitchen, from which she looked out upon stone steps and a brick wall. Her mistress had decided objections to her forming acquaintances in the neighborhood, and for several years the young girl scarcely held communion with any human being, except the old cook. Even her beauty made her less a favorite, for when company came in, it was by no means a greeable to Mrs Andrews to observe that the servant attracted more attention than her own daughter. Her husband spent very little of his time at home, and when there usually slept or [illegible]. But one member of the family was soon conscious of a growing interest in the orphan. Master Robert, a year older than herself, had been a petulent, over indulged boy, and was now a selfish, pleasure-seeking lad. In juvenile days he had been in the habit of ordering the little servant to wash his dog, of spoiling at her, if she did not hide his shoes to his liking. But as human nature developed within him, his manners towards her gradually softened, for he began to notice that she was a very handsome girl. Having obtained from his sister a promise not to reveal that he had said anything, he represented that Susy ought to have better clothes, and be allowed to go to meeting sometimes. He said he was sure the neighbors thought she was very meanly clad, and he had heard that their servants made remarks about it. He was not mistaken in supposing that his mother would be influenced by such arguments. She had never thought of the close-house child other than as a machine for her own convenience, but if the neighbors talk'd about her meanness, it was certainly necessary to enlarge Susy's privileges. In answer to her curious enquiries, her daughter repeated that Mrs Jones's girl had said so and so, and that Mrs Smith at the next door, had made similar remarks to Mrs Dickson. Whether this gossip was, or was not, invented by Robert, it had the effect he desired. Susan now nearly sixteen years of age, obtained a better dress, than she had ever before possessed, and was occasionally allowed to go to meeting on Sunday afternoon. As Mrs Andrews belonged to a very genteel church, she could not of course, take a servant girl with her. But the cook went to a method'st meeting, where the poor lad the Gospel proclaimed to them, and there a seat was hired for Susan also.

Master Robert suddenly became very devotional and was often seen at the same meeting. He had no deliberately bad intentions, but he was thoughtless by nature, and selfishly education. He found pleasant excitement in watching his increasing power over the young girl's feelings, and sometimes, when he cherished fancies whether he was doing right to gain her affections, and what would become of it all, he had floating visions that he might possibly educate Susan, and make her his wife. These very vague ideas he impressed so definitely on the mind of the cook, aided by occasional presents, that she promised to tell no tales. Week after week the lovers sat together in the same pew, and sang together from the same hymnbook. Then came meetings at which the family had retired to rest, to which secrecy gave an additional charm. The concealment was the only thing that troubled Susan with a consciousness of wrong, and he easily persuaded her, that this was a duty, in order to screen him from blame. "Was it his fault he loved her?" he asked. "He was sure he could not help it." She, on her part, could not help loving him deeply and fervently. He was very handsome, and she delighted in his beauty as much as he had done in the flower, when her heart leaped up and called it a Rosenglory. Since her brother went away, there was no other human bosom on which she could rest her weary head, no other lips spoke lovingly to her, no other eye beamed sent was mild into her soul. If too gay, the prosperous and the flattered find it pleasant to be loved how much more so must it be to one whose life from infancy had been so darkened? Society reflects its own pollution on lovings which nature made beautiful, and does cruel injustice to youthful hearts by the grossest of misrepresentations.

Thus it fared with poor Susan. Late one summer's night, she and Robert were sitting by the open windows of the breakfast-room. All was silent in the streets, the light of the moon shone mildly on them, and hushed their souls into quiet happiness. The thoughtless head of sixteen rested upon the impressible heart of seventeen, and thus they fell asleep.

Miss Andrews had occasion for some camphor in the course of the night, and her character to be in the closet of that room. When she entered in search of it, she started back as if she had heard the report of a pistol. No suspicion of the existing state of things had ever crossed her mind; and now, that she discovered it, it never occurred to her that she, herself, was much to blame. Her own example, and incidental remarks not intended as education, but which in fact, were so had taught her son that the world was made for him to gratify pleasure at any possible without reference to the good of others. She cautioned him against the liability of being cheated in money matters—and had instructed him how to make the cheapest bargains, in the purchase of all things or amusements—but against the most miserable and most insidious temptations of this life, he received no warning. The sermons he had heard, were about publicans and pharisees, who lived eighteen hundred years ago, none of them met the wants of his heart, or revealed the law of the senses. As for Susan the little fishes, floated along by the tide, were not more ignorant of hydrostatics, than she was of the hidden dangers and social regulations, in the midst of which she lived. Robert's love had bloomed in her dreary, monotonous life, like the Morning Glory in the dark, dismal court, and she welcomed it, and rejoiced in it, much after the same fashion.

Cheerfulness.

Cheerfulness unaffected cheerfulness, is the thing which you must bring into company, if you wish to shine in conversation. Now, we do not mean by this, any of those out-breakings of loud mirth, for what we would solicit is that calm high flow of spirits, but a light and equal quanimity of temper, that never rises to boisterousness, and never sinks down to immoveable dullness—that moves gracefully from "grave to gay, from serious to serene," and by mere manner gives proof of a feeling heart and generous mind. The high, and boisterous flow of spirits so often praised by the superficial world that keeps up during a party or visit, and then sinks down to absolute loutishness, is, on the other hand, a sure sign of coarse and vulgar nature, they may suffer from coarseness of others and should, therefore, set their pretty faces against it however much they may pretend that it is redeemed by the "dear fellow's wild rattling spirits."

Kelley & Co's Sarsaparilla

"Kennebunk, Maine, Ap 13, 1847

Messrs Joseph L. Kelley & Co

Gentlemen,—I feel it my duty to make known as far as in my power, the Family Virtues of your Inestimable Preparation of Sarsaparilla. I do in this public manner bear testimony to its astonishing effects upon a member of my family.

My son, [illegible] was for more than four years in an alarmingly afflicted with Scrofula and Ulcerous Humors which [illegible] in consequence of a Mercurial Disease which he had taken in his youth. His sufferings [illegible] but slight at times, and very painful at others. But fortunately he commenced using Kelley & Co's Sarsaparilla, and to my surprise he was able in four weeks time, to walk about [illegible] which he had not taken a single step for since the eight months. When he commenced using your Sarsaparilla his legs and arms were literally covered with sores and several pieces of the bone of the leg were taken out. He is now enjoying good health—and I believe your excellent medicine has effected this Wonderful Cure, for he was continually growing worse all the time he was using the other preparations of Sarsaparilla. Respectfully yours,

PHINEAS STEVENS

BAILEY'S COMPOUND
EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA,
Prepared in a highly concentrated form

THE subscriber, after numerous experiments has adopted a method of preparing a COMPOUND EXTRACT OF SARSAPARILLA by a new process by which the entire active principle of the root is extracted in a concentrated form—This preparation has received highly flattering encomiums from the Medical Faculty, by many of whom it has been used with invariable success in the following diseases, viz old head sore rheumatism mercurial affections old ulcers rheumatism and cutaneous eruptions generally, also in syphilitic cases and all impurities of the blood and obstructions of the secretions The entire satisfaction given in all cases of trial having produced a great demand for it the subscriber is induced to CAUTION the public against impositions The Compound Extract of Sarsaparilla as prepared by him will in future have his signature on the wrapper of the bottle with his signature J. N. Bailey, none other is genuine
Wm BAILEY
Brooklyn June 14th 1844
Dr Wm Bailey, Proprietor of Bailey's Extract of Sarsaparilla.
I do hereby certify that during the past year I have been severely afflicted with a disease which made its first appearance in sores on my mouth, afterwards spreading over my face, hands arms shoulders and legs forming an entire scab I received the attention of physicians, and used a great variety of remedies without receiving any visible benefit. My situation became truly distressing because more and more alarming. Being very poor, and my husband being out of employment, I was under the necessity of applying to the Female Samaritan Society of Brooklyn for assistance, and through their kind aid and advice of a physician (Dr Moriarty) was enabled to obtain a supply of Bailey's Sarsaparilla After using three bottles I found myself entirely recovered The sores have disappeared, and I now have the happiness of enjoying good health and feel that I am perfectly cured—That Bailey's Sarsaparilla rescued me from certain, immediate and lingering death, I remedy from the time I commenced taking it I felt that I could not do a better service to the public than thus publicly stating my case and recommending Bailey's Sarsaparilla to all that are in any way afflicted as I was. It is now two months since I got well, and my health was never better in my life than now
MARY MAKIN,—Baltic street

One of the proprietors of this paper, at the request of Mr Bailey, took some pains to ascertain the truth of the above statement Several individuals acquainted with the case were applied to among whom the physician who attended the female giving the certificate He unhesitatingly stated that the matters set forth were true The disease was a most malignant one the woman being covered from head to foot, almost, with sores That when applied to, he recommended a free use of Bailey's Sarsaparilla which was furnished by the Female Samaritan Society of the city as set forth, and to the surprise of all who are acquainted with the case, the woman entirely recovered after taking but three bottles Such being the virtues of Sarsaparilla it becomes every family to have a supply on hand and on the first appearance of the symptoms of a disease arising from the impurity of the blood let it be taken The physician alluded to has recommended the Sarsaparilla in other cases with success, and considers it an invaluable medicine
Any further comments would be superfluous

FOSTER'S MOUNTAIN COMPOUND!

FOR THE HAIR,

IS AN ARTICLE IN WHICH THE PUBLIC MAY PLACE THE UTMOST CONFIDENCE.

THE MOUNTAIN COMPOUND is entirely different from any thing ever before introduced. It combines several important medicinal qualities that no other article of the kind does, and which make it totally effective, when used as a restorative, or for removing DANDRUFF, ERUPTIONS, or DISEASES from the skin of the head.

Its powerful, Tonic and Lustral qualities give great beauty and richness to the tex ure of the Hair; and leading medical gentlemen of Boston, Portland, Lowell, and other places, have testified to a very great extent, to its admirable adaptation for dressing, softening, curling, and keeping the HAIR MOIST A GREAT LENGTH OF TIME—longer, much longer than anything else can, and no substance is left to soil any fabric however delicate.

Every individual who has bought one bottle of this Compound speaks well of it, and buy several more; and the proprietor feels confident to recommend it from that fact.

For testimony see small pamphlets.

CAUTION.

N. B. None genuine unless signed on the wrapper H. W. RUST PROOF IRON,

FOR

ROOFING, WINDOW SHUTTERS, &c.

THE subscribers beg to call the attention of all those interested in roofing, to their GALVANIZED TIN PLATES, and to the many advantages which they possess over all metalic and other substances hitherto used for this purpose, possessing as they do, the strength and lightness of iron without its liability to rust, having now been tested several years, both in this country and in Europe. They are also less subject to expansion and contraction from sudden changes of the atmosphere, than common Tin Plate, Iron, Zinc, &c., or any other metal now in use for roofing, and consequently form a much better and tighter roof; requiring far less frequent repair, while the first cost is but a trifle more.

The subscribers would also call the attention of all coilers and workers in metals, to the many other purposes to which Iron thus protected, can be applied. In general terms it is applicable to all articles of iron which it is desirable to protect from the action of the atmosphere. And they would especially call the attention of those interested in TELEGRAPHIC LINES, to their Galvanized Wire, which is now almost entirely used in Europe, and which answers every purpose as a conductor of electricity, costing only about one half as much as copper, and possessing equal durability with that metal.

Having lately erected works in this city for the purpose of galvanizing Nails, Spikes, Bolts, Wire, &c., they will be able to furnish any article which may be desired. A supply of Plates (manufactured in Europe,) constantly on hand, from 16 to 22 wire guage.

Nos. 14 and 16 Beaver-st. New York.

The Patent Right for this article has been secured for the United States as well as Great Britain, and other European countries, and all legal measures will be taken to prevent any infringement by importation or otherwise.

AMERICAN AND FOREIGN OFFICE,

And Agency of the U. S. Patent Office, Washington

22 State Street—Boston.

THE subscriber, by appointment from the Commissioner of Patents, is Agent of the U. S. Patent Office, for the purpose of receiving and forwarding to the same all such models, specimens of ingredients, and manufactures, as shall be intended to be patented, or deposited therein which will be received and forwarded, free of expense and risk, to their owners, and with all possible despatch. The subscriber will prepare Caveats, Specifications, Assignments, and all the necessary Papers and Drawings, will make researches into American and Foreign works, for establishing the validity or utility of inventions, and render advice on all legal and scientific matters respecting the same. Patents secured in Europe and other countries.

By application at this office, inventors are saved the time and expense of a journey to Washington and delay there, as well as all personal trouble in obtaining their patents. The experience of fourteen years's practice—an extensive collection of rare works, documents, decisions, &c. on mechanical subjects and the Patent Laws—and patents of different countries, collected at much expense during the long time this office has been established, and to which daily additions are being made, together with accounts here kept of inventions patented at Washington, enable me to afford important assistance and information to inventors desirous of securing Patents, which in other respects might be difficult of attainment.

To the Hon. Judge of Probate for the County of Penobscot.

THE undersigned Guardian of Nathaniel Parker, a minor, and son of Samuel Parker, late of Baxton, in the county of York, deceased, respectfully represents that the said Nathaniel Parker is interested in certain real estate situated in Baxton aforesaid, near the Bar Mills, so called,—viz: One undivided half of twenty-five acres of land, with a small House and Barn on the same, owned in common with Josiah Jose, of Boxton, subject to widow's dower, and that therefore it would be for the benefit of said minor that his interest in said estate should be sold and the proceeds thereof secured to him on interest.

Your petitioner therefore requests your Honor to grant him license to make sale of the same to Josiah Jose, for the sum of three hundred and seventy-five dollars, which he has been offered therefor, and which it is expedient for him to accept agreeable to provisions of law.

READ THE FOLLOWING.

From the "Western Star," a religious periodical, published at Jacksonville, Illinois.

"TOWNS' VEGETABLE BALSAMIC ELIXIR.—We are not in the habit of puffing medicines in our editorial notices, but having used the above medicine in our family with gratifying success, and being persuaded from all we can learn concerning its habits it is an excellent medicine for Coughs, Colds, Consumptions, Whooping Cough, Asthma, and diseases of the Chest and Lungs, we do not hesitate to give it a cordial notice.

Elder Downs, an acquaintance of ours, was himself an invalid for a long time; and was thought to be for some time with the consumption, a disease hereditary in his father's family. This remedy was the means of restoring him to good health, and multitudes have testified to its salutary effects upon themselves and families."

From the Messiaco (Canada) Post, of April 6, 1846.

"REV. N. H. DOWNS' VEGETABLE BALSAMIC ELIXIR, for all diseases of the Chest and Lungs.—From the abundant testimonials of those who have made use of this preparation, we can recommend it to the public with the utmost confidence in its use and efficacy. The great danger, also, of neglecting complaints incident to the chest and lungs, should pers ade every person subject to such complaints to possess themselves of this valuable remedy."

CONSUMPTION CURED!

THE

GREAT ENGLISH REMEDY

For Colds, Coughs, Asthma, and other Diseases of the CHEST and LUNGS.

BUCHAN'S HUNGARIAN BALSAM, the Great English Remedy for Pulmonary and Pulmonary diseases, still stands unrivalled and unsurpassed, as the most elegant, agreeable, and effectual curative of those formidable complaints, now known to the civilized world.

Three years of trial in the United States, during which time it has been distributed from Maine to Florida, has only served to establish its pre-eminent merit in all parts of the country, as the great and in the worst cases of Pulmonary disease; and the best and most agreeable curative of all the slight forms of cold, cough and inflammation, that can possibly be used.

SPITTING OF BLOOD! This frightful symptom of approaching Consumption, is speedily checked and prevented by the use of Buchan's Hungarian Balsam, which heals the affected membrane, removes the irritation, relaxes, and restores those vital organs, the lungs to sound and healthy condition.

REMEMBER THIS: Spitting of Blood always arises from a tendency to Pulmonary disease; and if not checked, in the outset, will sooner or later determine in death. A person who raises blood once, will raise blood again, unless a proper curative is immediately employed.

PAIN IN THE SIDE! This distressing symptom of Consumption arises from inflammation of the Lungs, or the Membrane called the Pleural, or from Bronchial affection of the air-passages. In either case it is a very dangerous indication of disease. It prevents full and free breathing and wears away the natural strength of the sufferer. The cause of this symptom should be removed at once; and nothing can possibly effect that object so speedily and happily as the Great English Remedy, discovered by Dr Buchan, which is entirely vegetable in its composition, and perfectly harmless in all its qualities.

LIVER COMPLAINT. In cases of Consumption the Liver is always more or less affected, and also the Spleen; Pleura, and all the digestive organs. On dissecting Consumptive patients, Tubercles are often found in all these organs, particularly upon the Liver, which also becomes fatty, oily and swelled. The effect of the Hungarian Balsam in diseases of the Liver, especially Fits of bilious stone, is direct and powerful. Simple disease of the Liver, unattended by Consumption is speedily cured by its use.

WINTER COUGH. The harsh, dry, hacking winter cough which afflicts old people, and so well in a low state of health is happily alleviated by the Hungarian Balsam.

It warms, moistens, and stimulates the whole breathing apparatus; removes all morbid mucus, and other foul matter; purifies and enriches the blood; improves the defective power of the Liver, Spleen, and other lungs glands, and the digestive organs; and imparts new life to the man and emaciated system.

BRONCHITIS. Bronchitis, Difficulty of Breathing, Harsh Cough, Shortness of breath, accompanied with all other symptoms caused by an affection of the air-tubes leading from the throat to the lungs, is directly and specifically cured by the use of the admirable remedy invented by Dr Buchan.

This is a very painful, wearing and injurious complaint, and always has a powerful tendency to inflame and soften the Lungs, and thereby to induce the worst form of Pulmonary disease. Be warned in time, ye afflicted! and employ this valuable remedy.

TUBERCLES ON THE LUNGS. The Hungarian Balsam is the only popular remedy which has any power to dissolve, remove, and cure Tubercles on the Lungs. Incredible as this is generally esteemed, we have the most abundant and conclusive evidence to sustain the assertion that such is its direct and immediate effect, in all cases where there is no natural organic defect. In fact, so confident is the American Agent of its power to cure the worst form of this disease, that he publishes, as he said frequently stated, that it should be used by invalids who have been PRONOUNCED INCURABLE by the most eminent physicians, rather than by persons affected with some slighter form of disease—in order that its trium ph might be more apparent. He boldly declares that it will cure Tuberculous disease, and confidently solicits a trial in the worst of cases.

EXPECTORATION. Free Expectoration is the important object to be attained in all attempts to cure diseases of the Chest and Lungs. The Cough, which is so distressing, is simply the result of a desire to expectorate; and as long as foul matter exists in the air-passage, it will continue to irritate the membrane and provoke a cough. Coughing assists to throw off this matter, and expectora on gives great relief. Inability to expectorate is the latter stages of Consumption is the cause of death.

The Hungarian Balsam is a great Expectorant—It dissolves the morbid and diseased matter in the air-passage, changes it from a thick, glutinous substance, to a thin harmless fluid, and throws it off with the greatest possible ease and comfort to the patient. There is no better medicine in the world, if its expectorant quality is alone to be considered.

SPASMODIC ASTHMA. Simple or Spasmodic Asthma, has no better remedy than the Hungarian Balsam. This painful and destructive affect on which resists almost every thing else, yields to the all powerful influence of this great remedy, as readily as any other form of Pectoral disease.

CONSUMPTION! Consumption has been graph cally described as a Shrinking of one's self! The Hungarian Balsam, by its cleansing, warming, soften ng and animating power, produces, not shrinking but expansion!

Between delightful influence, all chills, fever, night sweats, costiveness, blueness of the nails, a hot flushed skin, an uncertian strength, emaciation and decline—disappears, like the poisonous dews of night before the glories morning sun! This is no delusion, but demonstrable fact, maintained by incontestable proof, from all parts of the country.

BE WISE TO-DAY! Delay in any case of Consumptive tendency, is emphatically Death, under all ordinary treatment. The Hungarian Balsam is a great ANTIDOTE, as well as CURATIVE. If you have any symptoms above described, be advised in time.

Sold in large bottles, at only one dollar per bottle.

GRAEFFENBERG PILLS.

THERE ARE THE MOST CONCLUSIVE REASONS why the class of Medicines denominated "PATENT," should be made the means of incalculable and enduring blessings to the human family. Suppose, for example, that a high order of talent, long and engacious observation, the great medical learning and experience are brought to bear upon the invention and manufacture of a Pill. Why may not this long devotion to this division of medical science be crowned with the success that attends the sacrifice of similar talents and toil in other things? There is no reason; and it is but the simple dictate of the simplest common sense to say that a Pill thus produced will be as perfect an article as can be made by man. Twenty-five years devotion to any one pursuit will give a man of ability the mastery over it. This labor has been bestowed upon the

and they are presented to the public with claims unparalleled in the whole history of medical science.

It will be seen, in tracing the history of all great inventions, that they were not made or discovered until the arrival of what may be termed THE FULNESS OF TIME. The mariner's compass, for instance, was not invented until in the "fullness of time" it was needed. The lightning rod was by a man's foot, but he never knew what a wonderful and unerring guide was treasured in its silent bosom, until the Divinity appointed time crow near when distant continents and islands were to be made bare. Behold it now transferred to the bosom of the adventurous sailor, enabling him to launch far away upon unknown Ocean, instead of timidly hugging with in sight of familiar land-marks!

So with the discovery of the New World, upon whose shores was to arise this Giant Nation to a power, a glory, a mission far beyond the conception of the wildest fancy. The Old World had reached its highest destiny: its "fulness of time" drew near for the revelation of the New, and behold the immortal Columbus, from the fastness of his drenched and leaky vessel, found it! So with the invention of printing, of steam, of the magnetic telegraph. Each of these had its own "fullness of time," marked, distinct and Providential.

IN MEDICAL SCIENCE THE SAME GREAT PHILOSOPHICAL PRINCIPLE IS EQUALLY MARKED. Most beautiful and conclusive illustrations and proofs of this which are to be found in the history of the world. We can trace them from the Mosaic dispensations down to the present hour, all of them teaching us the lesson and giving us the hope that something yet better to heal human maladies is at hand.

That this principle is as true of Medical as of Physical sciences, is clearly shown in the

which is furnished gratuitously to all who wish it.

The

Graefenberg Pills,

are fearlessly by all who have tested them to be an inconceivable advance upon all other medical combinations and discoveries hitherto known, and they are announced

THE GREAT REMEDIAL TRIUMPH.

The inventor of these Pills rests his theory upon no echoes nor dogma of ordinary medical teachers. Pleading himself upon the revelation of the he reasons that his disciples and his patients make pure the fountain that leads through their veins and arteries, so are they thus made hope for a PERMANENT cure. Reflection can give them, and no other; but bright and joyous health must come from a pure blood.

ALMIGHTY CREATOR,

THAT

But a most sad thought here comes in! So countless are the impositions which are practiced upon the public by pretenders, and so numerous and beautiful are the medicines advertised, that the reader may be slow to believe in this Great Remedy. A word, therefore, on this point.

In the first place, READ THE GRAEFENBERG GAZETTE. No matter how sceptical you may now be, that paper will convince you. Thousands here been convinced in every State and Territory in the Union, and among them distinguished statesmen, jurists, clergymen, physicians, civilians. The bare enumeration of their names would fill this page. Let the reader send to the nearest agency for a copy of the Gazette, which is to be

GRATIS!!

In the second place, TRY THE PILLS. It will cost but the merest trifle, and will introduce you to a medicine which you will deem a blessing to the end of your days.

A bare mention of the diseases in which they have proved a remedy would fill the limits of this advertisement to full. But let any one afflicted with the following diseases make trial of the Graefenberg Pills and they will be PERMANENTLY CURED!
